Spain became a member of the International Ice Hockey Federation on March 10, 1923. Before the artificial rink in Madrid was built, there was some ice hockey played in Catalunya region and the Pyrenees Mountains on natural ice rinks. The members of Club Alpino Español were particularly active. Canadian and British players were said to have played exhibition games there at the beginning of the 20th century. Spain entered their first international tournament less than three months prior to the 1924 European Championships in Milan, Italy where they would participate. In late December 1923, they entered the Challenge de Haute-Garonne tournament in the French alp village of Bagnères de Luchon, at 1,800 m just outside of the Grand Hotel. The Spaniards played in red uniforms with a Castilian lion on their chests. Under the name of HC Madrid they beat Brussels second team 6-4. Against Club des Sports d'Hiver de Paris they lost 2-5 but played well once again. The 1924 European Championship was played at the Palazzo del Ghiaccio, measuring 75x45 m. The Spanish premiere did not go as smooth as planned. Two of the players got injured prior to the first game against Switzerland. With only five available players, their participation was in danger. The Swiss team showed great sportsmanship and agreed to play with only five players as well. As it turned out the Swiss team had no trouble defeating Spain, winning 12-0 in the one-sided contest. The injuries forced Spain to forfeit their second game against Sweden, even though Sweden too had agreed to play with only five players. So the tournament ended for Spain. In 1926, Spain again competed in the European Championships held in Davos, Switzerland. In their game against Belgium, Spain lost 5-0. They also lost their second game to Czechoslovakia (9-2). In the consolation pool, Spain tied Italy 2-2 and lost to Poland 4-1. Spain did not compete in any event until the 1977 World Championships C in Copenhagen, Denmark. It was not until the 2011 IIHF World Championship where Spain competed in Division I and rose in the ranking to 26th,
